"Farmers Protest"

Mahitha Lall VELS University of Science and Technology

Introduction

If we think about the farmers our mind develops the sense of food and grains. Because these are the strain because of which we can have our meal. Intro: Even in this fast-moving world, we stop for our basic necessities everyday... Such one necessity is food. But have we ever wondered while having a burger or a bowl of rice about how it came to be?

That person whose hand full of seeds and feet full of mud. Working all day in the burning sun just to drive out the hunger of many. These superheroes go by the name Farmers.

Even in this fast-moving world, we stop for our basic necessities everyday... Such one necessity is food. But have we ever wondered while having a burger or a bowl of rice about how it came to be?

They say with great power... Comes great responsibility That person whose hand full of seeds and feet full of mud. Working all day in the burning sun just to drive out the hunger of many... These superheroes go by the name Farmers

They wake up with the first cock-a-doodle doo. And thus, begins the process cultivation... Ploughing the land until its ready... Fertilizing them. Adding manures and planting seeds... Protecting them however possible from pests and other natural phenomenon's in every way possible ... Just so that we could eat our fill.

But we are so busy caught up in our own lives. How many of us think about how they live? What they eat... Are they even earning? What is the status of the farmers today? We often come across so many news about farmers committing suicides and so on... And what we do??

Feeling sad. Save farmers. This is all we do... And go on with our routine... Instead of getting out of this and doing something that brings about a positive change in their lives

It is to be trusted that "There in boundary dying an army man and there's dying a yeoman. It is sad to say that in spite of this our India is palatial."

And its to be believed that "When the banker says he is broke, and the merchants up in smoke. They forget that it's the farmer who feeds them all. It would put them to test, if farmers took a rest. Then they had known that it's the farmer who feed them all."

FARMERS PROTEST

The issue arise here is why farmers are protesting? The answer to this is they are in a very bad situation now. Because the Prime Minister is telling them to compromise with them with their land areas. The land in which they are sewing, the government is wanting that land for private corporations for food grains. It means that if private limited persons will be upholding the farm land for food and grains then where other farmers will go who has only this business as their earning. And this is what the reason the farmers are not willing to compromise with it. But at some point, of view its true only. The issue arises here that why the government wants to promote private investors in spite we are having more skilled and honest yeoman for work and feeding the whole nation? The answer might be that because of private investors they might work for government and in order to gain profit from these investors the government is in plan to do it. But the question arises here that why government need money for food supply? There is almost everything under which government is taking funds from all the financial crises. Instead of promoting and developing Bsnl network faster and accurate which is a government run network of India then why the Prime Minister is promoting Jio reliance which is a private limited network? And similar to that if the central government is taking funds and taxes from all the government workers then why he needs to promote private investors and that's also for food. If we are not getting pure air and water at least some pureness should be left on food. The issue arises here is on two way whether in order to stop usage of chemical food by the farmers the Prime minister is doing this or whether in order to upheld their own private investors so that they can gain funds and profit from it for food and grains? The answer to this issue is not very clear. Because on both sides if we look it is giving two different answers. The one is, now a days many farmers use chemical pesticides to overgrowth their farm field to gain money by which government is not getting much as expected as it is run in farmers land. And the second is the government want to gain profit from it by giving land to private investors so that some funds can be transferred to them and telling different reasons in media that because of stopping chemical produced food, they are upholding this bill. The reasons are on two different patterns. On what answers the federation should rely is more difficult. Because without government the federation will die without law and discipline and without farmer the federation will die without food and grain. Anyhow any one has to lose. And accordingly, we have to go ahead. Because there are no one to hear "The People". And for sure government higher authorities doesn't come under "The people". They are such people to which we have to adhere anyhow. We have no other option rather than listening their orders and will.

CONCLUSION

And the only thing I would like to conclude that, there are not all the farmers who betray the nation in fame of food and grain. But there are still such farmers alive who really earn money by feeding the nation and vanishing our hunger by their efforts. The government and the nation should not discriminate them. Because food and grain are not only a word. Because of not having it, crime is taking place. Because of food, people fight, people die, people steal and do all such activity to have one time meal. It is our god. We should respect it. And should distribute it as many as we could. Because if there is no food and water there is no esse. It is a precious pi.
